

FRINGE'24

Teddington Theatre Club presents:

NEW WRITING FRINGE

Tue 14 - Sat 18
May 2024

WELCOME

Welcome to Hampton Hill Theatre and to Teddington Theatre Club's (TTC) third annual Fringe, celebrating the creativity of our playwriting members.

Daniel Wain,
Artistic Director

This year's Fringe boasts work from those who've written for us before alongside fresh talent, plus, onstage, we've a cheering combination of TTC veterans, more recent recruits and complete newcomers. I thank all those who have contributed (writers, directors, actors and technical team), and hope that you enjoy this variety box of theatrical delights.

On a similar theme, next up we've an arguably even more ambitious endeavour: fifty of our actors in all ten of Noël Coward's Tonight at 8.30 one-act plays. These rehearsed readings form the centrepiece of our week-long celebration, in conjunction with the Noël Coward Foundation, of both the 25th anniversary of Hampton Hill Theatre and the 125th birthday of 'The Master', Teddington's most famous theatrical son.

From farces to fantasies, light comedy to iconic romance, satire to psychological exploration, Coward's ten miniature masterpieces offer a remarkable range of genres, locales and experiences. We'll be staging two per evening from Monday 10th to Friday 14th June. Tickets are now available, at only £10 for each pair of plays, and £40 for all ten. This will be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to enjoy the whole of Tonight at 8.30, directed and performed by a truly star-studded galaxy of TTC talent. We then bring our celebrations to a close with a gala evening of Coward's wit, wisdom, verse and song on Saturday 15th June.

I hope to see you there! In the very short term, please say "thank you" to those wonderful volunteers who helm our front of house & bar team as you leave tonight.
